

Summer Storm

The storm moved in quickly
It started with the wind.
The trees bending over
Then straightening again.
Dark clouds followed
A scattering of rain.
Then thunder and lightning
Again and again.
The rain picked up
To a steady downpour
Mother Earth drinking
Ready for more.
The wind now howling
Thunder lightning and rain.
Changed to hail in an instant
Then back to rain.
As the dark clouds pass
Water sucked in like air.
The day brightened up
Hot humid and fair.

Terrence Michael Wall